State Senate Recognizes Youth Builders

An announcement by Youth Builders President Sandi Bible that the club has been recognized by the Tennessee State Senate, via State Sen. Steve Southerland, was the highlight of Youth Builders' Sept. 27 meeting at Greenville Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

The State Senate's proclamation recognized Youth Builders' 70th anniversary and the club's dedication to serving children of the community and the community as a whole.

Fall decorations adorned the tables and were arranged by Nikki Niswonger, and Ella's Catering provided the buffet luncheon. Two guests were welcomed and recognized: Lindsey Brotherton and Loreen Schmidt.

Day for Kids Chair Cathy Osborne thanked members for their assistance at the Greenville Boys & Girls Club's Day for Kids. She also announced that the YB kidPrintID committee made identification cards at the event for 145 kids.

Carla Bewley, history museum chair, announced the Greenville-Greene County History Museum's fundraising quilt-turning event, "Tales from Under The Covers," and invited everyone to support the museum.

Julie Collotti announced that the next event at the girls' cottages on campus at Holston United Methodist Home for Children would be Oct. 17 beginning at 3:45 p.m. Craft projects for the visit are planned.

Members were reminded by Beverly Selmeski with the Library Committee that books for next year's sale may be taken to the Greenville-Greene County Public Library at any time.

Sally Causey reported that the Pre-School Committee met and is making plans for visits to Head Start Classes and he Adopt A Child for Christmas Program. Members of the committee will be visiting all Greenville City Schools Head Start classes to conduct various programs and to deliver winter hats and scarfs made by YB members. Members were told they may pick up information for their adopted Christmas children at the October meeting.

Betty Weemes, chairman of the School Assistance Committee, asked committee members to select a school to visit in the next couple of months to deliver dictionaries from the Niswonger Foundation and to assist with teaching the 911 Emergency Training Program.

Rush Bakshi reminded members that Halloween Happenings and ghost stories at the old jail will again be hosted by Youth Builders. She asked that members bring candy to the October meeting to be dispersed at the event.

Members were reminded that Gifts for Kids needs volunteers to assist with registering families beginning the first of October, Mondays through Fridays, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., as well as on Distribution Days on Dec. 8 and 9. To volunteer, call 636-TOYS.

Youth Builders received a request from the library at Greenville High School to assist with seed money for a new program to open a coffee shop at the school library. Over 900 students and over 80 staff would have access to the coffee shop, and over 400 students would be involved in working at the shop. A decision was made to send a donation of $250.

Genevieve Fernandez, fundraising chair, thanked all members who assisted with the recent Bargainfest sale, and announced that the date set for the annual Trivia Night is Saturday, March 17, 2018. Trivia Night will be held at the General Morgan Inn. Reservations for table hosts and sponsors for the event are now being accepted.

The meeting was adjourned with the Club Benediction.

Smooth Sailor Plays The Capitol Saturday

The Capitol Theatre invites audiences to cruise back and visit the 1970s and '80s with the band Smooth Sailor, playing Greenville for the first time Saturday. Tickets are $10. Doors open at 7 p.m. for the show, which starts at 8 p.m.

A news release says Smooth Sailor, of Knoxville, charts a course for pure listening enjoyment, presenting timeless hits by artists like Hall & Oates, The Doobie Brothers, Steely Dan, Christopher Cross and more.

"Their super-smooth sound will bring you out of your seat and place you in full sail dance mode," the news release says.

Audience members are encouraged to wear nautical attire.

Concessions will be available and the theater offers a free wi-fi internet connection.

For more information about the band, see www.facebook.com/smoothsailorband/.
